Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

What is Santa Claus bringing Nevada county, California and the United States? In so far as Nevada county is concerned we have already forecast a prosperous year. There are plenty of portents of prosperity, not around the corner, but out in plain sight. The Narrows dam which gets started within a week or two, the keen inquiry for mining properties of good promise, the constant demand for apartments, rooms and houses to rent, all indicate that 1939 will be a year to remember.

Now whatever Santa Claus brings California, we believe will have very little effect in the mining country, though if our new state administration should get extremely busy with reforms and experiments, we might have our prosperity considerably diluted. But we are depending upon the seasoned majority of rural state senators, both Democratic and Republican to keep this from happening. Already the word has gone forth that Lieutenant Governor-Elect Patterson, will not be accorded the traditional, but not legal, privilege of naming the state senate committees. If the majority will stand on that good resolution, it will do much to keep phony bills out of the hopper.

As usual we note the incoming governor is painting the out-going governor solid, funereal black. That is to be especially expected when after 44 years, a Democrat is elected governor of the Golden State. Sometime recently he has said he thinks he will need $50,000,000 more in taxes than were spent in the last biennium, to carry on. We hope the Republican majority in the Senate can convince him that he is in error. If the tax payers of California are to have any voice in the weight of taxes they carry, it would seem as if they should at once make full use of all tax organizations in the state to keep that burden down to a size that can be carried.

The fact warring labor organizations are getting together, regardless of whether their leaders wish it or not, as has been done in San Joaquin county, we regard as a good omen for prosperity. It was bad enough in the old days, when labor was constantly fighting employers, or vice versa. But when the war between industrial and craft unions broke out, it was too much to be quietly endured by the public, or third party.

So, if Governor Olson will tread lightly where angels fear to tread, if labor will compose its differences and give California's great public a chance to recover from the many shocks of 1938, and if the state legislature will consider the heavy burdens the tax payers already bear, and instead of increasing the load by experimental and visionary attempts to bring Utopia to California this year or next, enact only those measures that benefit the entire state rather than special groups, there is no reason why this commonwealth should not prosper in 1939.

On the credit side of the ledger there is one large item to help all of Northern California, if not the entire state. That is the Central Valley project which will employ hundreds of men directly and thousands indirectly. It is within the power of labor organizations, however, as indicated in the canal construction going forward in Contra Costa county, to slow down and disrupt work on this huge enterprise.

We have a comfortable feeling in national affairs, that no matter how much the brain trusters may gnash their teeth and grimace, a brake is about to be applied to the spending orgy and vote buying of the New Deal. Hugh Johnson's article in last week's Saturday Evening Post we accept up to a point. We concur in that part in which he forecasts the influence of conservative elements that retained or gained seats in Congress at the November election. Regarding his prophecy that the President will be obliged to run for a third term and will be elected by the beneficiaries of his twenty billion dollar expenditures for charity and other programs, we are very skeptical indeed.

We are firmly convinced that for the time being national prosperity is here. Santa Claus, or New Deal, spending will assure prosperity, as long as the spending lasts, and if the administration "lays off" business and private enterprise for a year or two, or until the next election, and it would seem good politics as well as good policy, to do so who knews whether we may not weather through to that long forgotten Elysium, "normalcy!"

San Juan Prepares For Brilliant Fete When "Lights Go On"

By KATHERINE BRAITHWAITE

The historic town of North San Juan is going to be served with electricity early in 1939 for the first time since it was founded in 1857.

The E Clampus Vitus chapters from all over the state have been invited to cooperate with the William Bull Meet chapter in the Deer Creek Diggings to put on a celebration that will make the turning on of the lights a memorable occasion.

Clyde Gwin is in charge of the affair so we can expect something spectacular.

In the early mining days North San Juan was the mining, business, and cultural center of this region of Nevada county. With the construction of the deebris restraining dam on the Upper Narrows of the Yuba river she will gradually regain her title of Queen City of the San Juan Ridge.

When in her prime, North San Juan was a hilarious queen, and partial to the boisterous citizens. Their red shirts and cowhide boots never offended her royal sense of propriety. Instead, she welcomed their calloused hands about her waist and her lips eagerly turned upward to receive their be-whiskered kisses.

When the two-gun men and the hell-roaring miners met in the saloons and bumped glasses and guns the Queen was likely to dance up to the bar and order a whiskey straight for herself. At dawn she stood in the graveyard and shed hangover tears while a presumptious miner was buried in his boots and shooting irons.

When the hydraulic mines were closed in 1884 North San Juan decided to sleep it off until Harry Englebright was old enough to be a congressman and the California Hydraulic Mining Association was organized. While she waited for 1939 her 1849 robes went out of style and her black tresses became streaked with grey.

A new San Juan is now rising from her long sleep in the boulder-strewn bed of a pliocene-age channel. Her vivacious girlhood is half a century behind her. A wiser and more dignifned Queen is opening her eyes. She is sitting up in bed and looking over her new subjects who have replaced the men and women of her youth.

Very soon North San Juan will be wide awake again and ready to dance to the modern tunes of a new era. She will be attired in a gown furnished by the Pacific Gas and Electric company that cost that concern $11,400. The lights in her crown will sparkle from pine-crested hilltops to flower-decked canyons and her long glorious train will glitter the length and breadth of the business and the residential section.

The California Hydraulic Mining Association and all their friends have been invited to follow the trail of the forty niner to the San Juan Ridge and participate in the electric light celebration. Raining or snowing, San Juan is prepared to show everyone a royal good time.

With the resumption of hydraulic mining and the convenience of electricity to modernize methods of living, North San Juan has become a town with a past—and a brilliant future.

NO ISSUE OF NEVADA CITY NUGGET MONDAY

Since Christmas falls on Sunday this year, Monday will be celebrated nationally and all stores and offices will be closed. In accordance with the universal observance of December 26 as a holiday, the Nugget office will be closed Monday and there will be no issue of this newspaper on that day.

SWEETLAND MAY UNITE WITH N. C. SCHOOL DIST.

On Tuesday, December 27, 1938 the citizens of the Sweetland school district will hold an election at their school house to determine if the district desires to annex with the Nevada City Unified School district, or local high school district.

County Superintendent Ella M. Austin stated Wednesday that the Washington school district is considering becoming a part of the Nevada City high school district also. The Bear river section became a part of the Grass Valley high school district at an election last week.

ROTARY ENJOYS XMAS TREE AND SANTA CLAUS

The Rotary club enjoyed a Christmas tree and the ministrations of a Santa Claus at yesterday's luncheon. Every member received a gift, usually a toy. The gifts were gathered up following the luncheon and taken to White Christmas headquarters of the Women's Civic Club in the Forest service buildings where they will be appropriately wrapped and presented to children in Nevada City and environs whose Christmas stockings might otherwise not be filled.

Christmas chorals and anthems were sung. The distribution of presents was accompanied often by reading of comic verses. The gifts frequently had a meaning of their own in reference to some incident in the life, or characteristic, of the person receiving the gift.

TO EXPLORE WEST IN GRACEY MINE

The Orleans Lode group has lost the lease on the Gracey mine south east of Nevada City and J. M. Hoff now has a ten year lease on the property. He is now preparing for extensive development to the west. In the past all development has been to the east or the Mayflower property. E. W. Harker, associate of J. M. Hoff, has sent over the necessary pumps for unwatering the shaft.

The new contract has been signed and delivered to Hoff by the Cheney Gold Mines company of Oakland. Mr. Hoff has also purchased the 60 ton mill on the property.

AUTO CRASH RESULTS IN $10,382 DAMAGE SUIT

Cecil C. Ross has filed suit for $10,382 against Vincent Doney and others, to recover damages resulting from a collision on November 29, in which the plaintiff alleges his car was wrecked. The accident occurred seven miles south of Grass Valley on the Auburn highway. Ross alleges that he suffered concussion of the brain and other injuries, which entailed an aggregate bill for medical and hospital services of $382.

NINETY DAYS

Frank Prime, 40 years old, who flourished a razor one of the old-fashioned kind, and broke up a happy party in Grass Valley last Friday night, on pleading guilty to disturbing the peace was sentenced by Judge Walter Mobley to 90 days in the county jail.

HYDRAULIC PARLOR FETES OLD TIME MEMBERS

Hydraulic Parlor No. 56, N. S. G. W. held an informal meeting last Tuesday night, honoring the men who for more than fifty years have been members of the parlor, the oldest in the state and one of the oldest fraternal orders in Nevada City.

The meeting was not held in the Parlor's regular meeting place, but was opened and held in the Nevada City Club. During the splendid dinner mingling with the clatter of knives and forks, there was general conversation and reminiscences among those present.

Half century members, honored at the dinner were as follows: C. W. Chapman, James F. Colley, E. J. Baker, M. M. Baruh, Levi J. Kendrick, C. A. Weisman, Ben A. Bost, J. Y. Baruh and William Schwartz.

Robert G. Polglase of Hylraulic Parlor acted as toastmaster. He called on Geo. H. Calanan one of Hydraulic Parlor's old time members and presented him and the other old timers with a beautiful golden emblem as a token of the parlor's appreciation of their long years of membership.

ALLEGED AUTO THIEVES RETURNED TO OAKLAND

James Lefter, 28, and Lauren Mencar, 21, arrested in Truckee Wednesday by Traffic Officer McKewen on a charge of auto stealing, were yesterday removed from the county jail by Oakland police to the Alameda county jail. It is alleged that Lefter purloined a new '39 Chevrolet coupe in Oakland, picked up Lauren Mencar near Colfax and later turned the car over to Mencar to drive. Somewhere in the vicinity of Truckee the car went over the bank and was wrecked.

Mrs. Louise Plummer and grandson, Billie Kirkham, will spend Christmas in Sacramento with Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Kirkham. The many friends of Billie Kirkham will be pleased to learn that he is graduating from St. Mary's in May.

Christmas Greetings

Christmas! Joyous season of peace and good will—when glad tidings ring out across the universe. When the memory of that first Christmas is relived in the hearts and souls of men—when men are a little better, a little finer, the nobler aspects of their nature responding to the urge for kindness and charity the Yuletide evokes.

The memory of Bethlehem and the gleaming star that still seems to cast its spiritual radiance upon the world. The lowly manger where the Magi and the humble shepherds gathered round in reverent awe. The angels chanting their paeans of joy that an infant King was born to rule the world.

In keeping with this happy occasion the Nugget wishes to thank all its subscribers and advertisers for their fine loyalty and generous support in the past, and is looking forward with pleasure to serving them in the future. To our many friends we extend the heartiest of Christmas greetings and sincere best wishes for the new year.

May the benign spirit of Christmas descend upon every man, woman and child, filling their lives with a full measure of joy and leaving in its wake health and happiness.

Seven Hundred School Children Participate In White Christmas

About 500 elementary school children and 274 high school pupils, participated in the White Christmas program on the court house lawn and front steps Wednesday afternoon. The high school pupils formed a long line as they marched from high school with their splendid band in the lead.

A loud speaker was used to advantage in the program. Mrs. H. E. Kjorlie gave a short message on the early Bible times in Palestine and the birth of Christ. Lubron Williams high school boy announced the numbers.

The following program was rendered before an audience of fully one thousand persons: "Joy to the World," combined band and chorus; "Sleep of the Child Jesus." chorus; "He Shall Feed His Flock," duet Bill Tobiassen of the grammar school and Patricia Presley, of the high school; "Santa Claus Song," grammar school children; and the chorus accompanied by the band, sang "Silent Night," "Crown Him," "The First Noel" and "Oh Come All Ye Faithful."

Two large barrels and a small truck load of provisions were given by pupils and the audience to give cheer to those less fortunate on the Christmas holiday. Some cash was also given.

The audience was the largest ever to attend and the splendid music and singing by the high and grammar school students were greatly enjoyed.

COLGATE TO ALLEGHANY POWER LINE NEARLY DONE

Seventy five men under Foreman James Snell have cleared right of way and almost completed a power line from Colgate power house to Alleghany. Colgate power house is near Dobbins Crossing on the North Yuba river and in clearing and preparing this line it will make it easier for linemen to patrol in winter when snow is deep in the higher mountains. About 13 miles of new line were built and ten miles repaired. A direct telephone line was also built to Alleghany by the P. G. &. E. company and it will be possible to get communications through in almost any kind of weather. The new power line will be in operation about the middle of January.

CHRISTMAS TREES ABLAZE IN NEV. CITY GARDENS

Nevada City is in holiday mood with the gay lights, and many Christmas trees about the city. The Tahoe National Forest service came forward with truck loads of fir boughs and tied them about telephone and power poles in the business district adding much to the gay festival atmosphere.

Through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce and several city officials strings of 60 additional colored lights were strung in the business district early in the week and add much to the brilliancy of the scene at night.

Max Solaro, fire truck driver, made a new wooden sign for the local firemen for their dance New Year's eve. It was placed over the armory hall door. The long double sign with lights inside reads, Firemen's Ball, New Year's Eve, Come One, Come All.

Several newly lighted Christmas trees noted are, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Scheemer, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schreiber, New York Hotel, W. H. Daniels, who resides on the Tahoe-Ukiah highway has a brilliantly lighted wreath at his home. The Penrose and Son display window tree also carries an artistic arrangeme of the Babe in the Manger, the whole being done by a clerk, Charles Trevillian.

Mrs. Lyda Talbot and brother, Frank Mainhart, of Boulder street have created a little scene about their Christmas tree that is drawing much attention. A huge green wreath frames the tree, a fairy is nearby and old St. Nick is not far away with a pack full of toys. Fruits and ornaments are on the wreath while the trree is pink with silver ornaments.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Syms have two prettily docerated trees at each side of the door and a huge red bow on the door. Mr. and Mrs. Douglass Farmer have a splendid tree. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Martz of the Murchie road have a decorated living tree.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Shaw and son will spend Christmas in Los Angeles with relatives.

BONUS CHCEKS FOR HUNDREDS OF NEV. CO. MINERS

Bonus checks to several hundred miners will be paid today by the Golden Center and Idaho Maryland mines. The Lava Cap has already distributed bonusses to its employes. The Newmont companies have made no announcement, preferring to let their Christmas bonus be a Christmas surprise.

The Lava Cap paid its 265 miners a Christmas bonus of $10 each. The Golden Center is paying to its 110 miners a bonus of $10 each.

The Idaho Maryland today is distributing a Christmas bonus to an approximate 770 men, based on length of service. Those who have been employed over five months will receive $5; those over six months $10, those over one year $20, those over three years $30, and those over 5 years $50.

INJUNCTION IS ISSUED HALTING WATER DIVERSION

The Alpha Hardware Stores, Ltd., and the Nevada Irrigation District jointly filed a suit in the superior court in Nevada City against F. Ross Croft, You Bet district mine operator, and three John Does, requesting the defendants be enjoined from diverting water from the English ditch.

A temporary restraing order has been granted the plaintiffs by Judge Raglan Tuttle pending trial of the suit. The complaint accuses the men of breaking the gates in the English ditch to divert the water for their own use in mine operations. The offense was committed December 11 and since that time the defendants are said to have continued to divert the water, damaging new water gates placed there by the plaintiffs.

SHIPPING CONCENTRATES

Three tons of concentrates were shipped Saturday from the Hal Drapers assay office to the plant in Bakersfield for gold recovery. About one ton was purchased from the Arctic mine at Washington and the Queen Lil property near this city. The balance of the fourteen lots came from snipers working along the nearby rivers and streams. The purchase of black sand and concentrates is proving a benefit to snipers who have been unable to recover the fine gold in ordinary sluicing, long tom and other methods of mining.

Miss Helen Arbogast teacher in the Meridian school, returned home last evening and will spend Christmas and the holidays with her parents, Supervisor and Mrs. C. S. Arbogast. Dr. A. A. Arbogast, dentist in the bay district arrived Thursday to spend Christmas holidays with his brother, C. S. Arbogast and family and relatives at Blue Tent.

Scientific Christmas Party

A Christmas party that medical science alone has made possible, was held in the children's ward of the University of California Hospital here. It was a Yuletide gathering for diabetic children from all parts of the state, made possible by the generosity of the Doctors' Wives' Association and other friends of the hospital.

Each child received a regular invitation and there was a place card at each plate. The recreation and entertainment provided for the youngsters was identically the same as that at any other children's Christmas party. There was candy, the diabetic kind, heaping plates of water ice and other non-caloric food.

The party was under the direction of Dr. Mary Olney of the department of pediatrics, who conducted the west's first camp for diabetic children in Napa county last summer. The dietary features were attended to by Miss Alice Henry, head nurse of "H Ward" which has come to mean Health Ward to the little diabetics of the state. More than 25 guests attended and some of them came from points hundreds of miles removed from the hospital.

The discovery of insulin and its refinement into protamine zinc insulin, are the two developments of medical science which have made this Christmas party possible.—Contributed.

Vocational Training

Vocational guidance of youth is becoming more popular and schools are developing new techniques and facilities for this purpose, according to Dr. J. Harold Williams, professor of education, and dean of the summer session, on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California. He is a former president of the California Educational Research and Guidance Association.

Speaking at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club, he declared that every civilized country is giving serious consideration to the vocational adjustment of youth, with special reference to their possible contributions to the social order which is most favored. In the totalitarian states, this guidance is largely identified with the policy of regimentation, but even under the conditions it is recognized that human aptitude and potential ities are diverse, and diagnostic procedures are employed to determine what particular type of service to the state a given child is most capable of rendering.

"England has provided occupational advice for youth, on a national scale, but in a democratic fashion," said Dr. Williams. "Advisory committees are available, under the Ministry of Labor, and with the cooperation of the National Institute for Industrial Psychology. A recent follow up revealed that among those who accepted the advice, successes were 11 times as frequent as among those who did not do so.

"School authorities in the United States are so desirous of avoiding dictation and regimentation that they have proceeded cautionsly in the development of guidance programs. Emphasis is placed upon the decisions which a child may be encouraged to make for himself, and care is taken to avoid early fixational objectives. In view of recent evidence that most persons are capable of the successful pursuit of several occupations, and in consideration of present employment uncertainties, most schools in the United States emphasizes occupational information, and encourage children to learn about several vocations. At the same time, use is made of personal interviews, test results, interest ratings, and records of educational achievements to determine the general areas which seem most promising for individual pupils."—Contributed.

Call For Emily Post

A phenomenon of modern-day life that, in so far as we know, defies explanation by the most learned psychologists, is the way of a man at the wheel of an automobile. A man may be scrupulously polite and considerate in his office and home —and yet, the moment he steps into his automobile, that same man may change from a veritable Dr. Jekyll to a veritable Mr. Hyde.

In many cases he becomes an unreasoning dictator—raging at other drivers, blowing his horn needlesly when crossing lights halt traffic, fuming at pedestrians who do not leap out of his way. As to the ladies, all too frequently—well, it some times seems there is no "gentle" sex piloting cars.

Politeness, of course, is a slow growth of tradition. For long centuries men and women have been trained to courtesy in customary daily contacts, for the simple reason that courtesy makes life more pleasant. It may be the automobile is too new to us; we haven't had time to develop a tradition of high-way courtesy. Since highway rudeness is potentially dangerous, easily leading to accidents, the speedy development of a code of motoring ethics would be a boon of great value.

A need of this country is an authoritative Emily Post of the highways to give crude-mannared drivers a start in the right direction!—Contributed.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL!

SANTA CLAUS IS COMING
(By Joe M. Swazey)

Happy tots with eager faces
Going through their daily paces—
Being—oh! so awfully good,
Doing everything they should.
Helping Ma clean up the dishes,
Seeing Pa gets what he wishes;
My! but things are sure a-humming,
'Cause old Santa Claus is coming.

Up and off for school by eight,
Back home again by four;
Kids wouldn't think of being late,
Might make old Santa sore—
And gosh! that wouldn't do, you know,
Never in the world, no—no!
'Cause he's the one who makes the toys
For all good little girls and boys.

Way up North in Toyland
He makes kiddies presents grand;
Hauls them down in his big sleigh,
For good little children Christmas day.

And when you hear those sleigh
bells ring,
You'll know being good's the only thing;
Lots of presents for Mom and Pop,
Little stockings filled to the top—
Gee! but things are sure a-humming,
'Cause old Santa Claus is coming!

Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Keller have as guests Mr. Keller's nephews, Jack Purlee of Chicago and Billie Skates of San Pedro. Mr. and Mrs. J. Skates of San Pedro will motor to this city to spend Christmas with their son, Billie and Mr. and Mrs. Keller.

SIXTY FIVE BOY SCOUTS SIGN UP FOR PAHATSI

Sixty five scouts and leaders were registered last Monday, with numbers still growing, for winter scout camp at Kilborn Lake, December 26 to 30. This group will open the snow sport season at the scout camp with nealy all the week ends for the next four months reserved by troops and districts of the Tahoe Area.

A small group will go in the day ahead to complete preparation of the 30x80 foot lodge to receive the campers when they arrive Monday afternoon. One of the highlights this year will be ski construction to qualify scouts for the new merit badge in skiing. Several leaders qualified to give this instruction will include Dr. Howard of San Rafael and Earl Larsen, coach of the Placer Junior College ski team.

Plenty of hot food including the regular turkey dinner will be part of the program which includes entertainment for the long evenings spent indoors.

Mrs. Ellen Walmsley will leave Saturday night and arrive in Watsonville early Sunday morning to enjoy a reunion of her children who have gathered from several cities. She will also see a new grandson for the first time.

NEW DANCES IN BALLET RUSSE IN SACTO. FEB. 6

With many alluring new ballets and revivals of old favorites in its repertoire, and many new additions to its company, the Greater Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo will return to Sacramento for a single evening of dance entertainment on February 6.

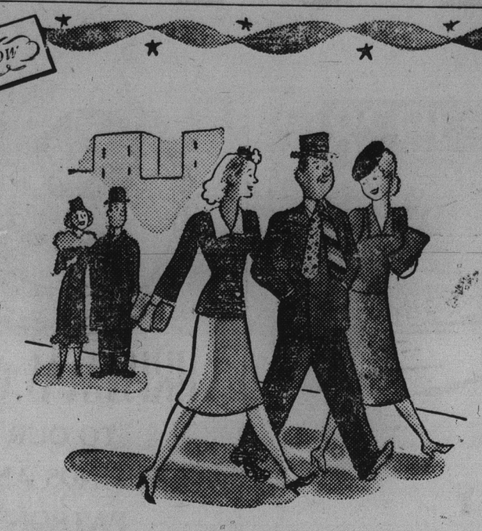
Brough by Ware and Hazelton, the ballet will be the third event of the Sacramento Music Series which opened with the San Francisco Opera performance. It will come to the memorial auditorium and the management expects fully as large a house as the capacity audience that turned out for Lily Pons in Lucia.

The sensation of the evening will be the gay, new creation of Leonide Massine, Gaite Parisienne, set to miscellaneous music by Offenbach. This has been received with tremendous enthusiasm wherever presented this season. In fact John Marton of the New York Times, the oustanding dance critics in this country, wrote as follows about it:

"Massine has effected a companion to his popular Beau Danube of other seasons, but the new work is so vastly superior to the old that there is no comparison. It is, to be sure, pure foolishness and may have little or nothing to do with Art with a large A. It is nevertheless fresh as a daisy, extraordinarily skillful and inventive, and if that does not put it into the category of art then the subject would seem to require re-categorizing.

"The work, virtually plotless, deals at a riotous pace with cafe society in Paris in the last century in the spirit and tempo of Offenbach at his gayest.

"Massine has provided himself with one of the best roles of his career as an impetuous Peruvian, and he dances it delightfully. A can-can forms perhaps the high spot of the piece, but there are also a marvelous fight, a charming and ingenious setting of the famous barcarolle and a dozen more divertisements that are crisp and brilliant and in high good humors."



"They both gave him Arrow Ties for Christmas"

Give him not just a necktie, but an Arrow necktie — and he'll be pleased as punch! The patterns are smart and flattering . . . the fabrics are the kind you get in much costlier ties . . . and Arrow ties are wrinkle-resistant! Come in tomorrow and pick out his!

CHRISTMAS VACATION

The high school vacation begins today and ends January 9. The students are glad for a rest from study. The first semester will end shortly after the end of January so many students are going out of town for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Whitaker will leave tomorrow evening to spend Christmas day in Orland with Mrs. Whitaker's parents.

SCOUT TREE SALE BIG SUCCESS

Harry Goudge, Scoutmaster who has been supervising the sale of Christmas trees by the boy scouts, urges all those who have not yet obtained their trees to do so at once before the already depleted supply gives out. Trees have been on sale on the vacant lot near the Alpha Store, where redberries may also be obtained.

A fine profit has been realized by the scouts from the sale of trees this year, and their distribution of them in this manner has been a grand convenience to local residents.

NUGGET ADS PAY

Mike Denike and Tom Smart were business visitors from North San Juan Wednesday. The last free dance given by citizens of their home city was so successful that another one is panned about January 7. Twamley Hall was crowded by the throngs enjoying a fine time dancing to good orchestra music.

AMER. BANK HEAD WITNESS BEFORE SENATE BODY

President L. M. Giannini of Bank of America returned to San Francisco today from an extended tour which took him to the American Bankers Association convention in Houston, Texas, and to New York and other financial centers.

While in New York the banker received an invitation from a Senate sub-committee which has undertaken the study of profit sharing plans for industry. He went to Washington and described for the group a profit sharing bonus plan for employes recently put into effect by Bank of America and which for 1938 involved the investment of approximately $1,200,000 for thsir account.

While in the capital, Giannini conferred with officials of the various banking agencies, including the new Comptroller of the Currency, Preston Delano. Several meetings were held at the comptroller's office. Such conferences are a regular routine with all banks, large or small, and Washington officials always welcome the opportunity for helpful discussion.

Giannini said the discussions were very satisfactory for all concerned. The manner in which Bank of America has developed the retailing of credit to the many, as contrasted with the usual banking policy of wholesaling credit to the few, was particularly enlightening to many officials in Washington. The bank executive pointed out that the average Bank of America real estate loan is about $4,000. This, it was stated, is not only evidence of broadest service to the masses but is also a great factor of safety. Losses average less than one-twentieth of one per cent.

The banker said he had heard that reports were bing circulated to the effect that the bank might soon increase its capital through an issue of R. F C. preferred stock.

"The bank's capital funds," Giannini commented, "are more than one hundred per cent in excess of legal requirements. If increasing deposits, which have gained fifty million dollars since November 1, 1938, should make it desirable to expand our capital this will undoubtedly be done through the issuance of rights to present holders of common stocks."

"Payment of our regular quarterly dividend will be distributed December 31st to stockholders of record December 15, and as for the future, the management is definitely of the opinion that the dividend will not be less than at present.

"I invite public attention to our forthcoming year end statement of condition, to be released to newspapers immediately after the new year. That statement will reveal our bank as more thriving than ever before."

LONG FAMILY REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Long returned Monday from Modesto where they were joined by their daughter, Miss Margaret Long, University of California student, and all enjoyed celebrating the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. Long's parents on Sunday. Four sons and a daughter and families were present there being four generations enjoying the happy affair. A remarkable incident is the fact that in the fifty years of life together there has never been a death in the family. Miss Margaret Long returned to Nevada City with he parents for the holidays.

RED CROSS ASKS CARE AGAINST XMAS ACCIDENTS

The American Red Cross again acting to prevent a tragedy of injuries and fatalities at Christmas time, checks Santa himself by instructing the merry old gentleman to fireproof his long white beard before getting near holiday candles or hearths, according to Frank Finnegan, chairman of the accident prevention committee.

Largely because of Christmas celebrations, more persons are injured by fire during Decemeber than any other month, the Red Cross warns. Even St. Nicholas may constitute a fire hazard, and should play safe by dipping his sometimes highly inflammable whiskers in a solution of four ounces of ammonia phosphate to one quart of water.

In further voicing the opinion of the majority that safety and sentiment mix, the Red Cross turns the spotlight on other ancient Yule customs.

"Burn a candle in the window for carolers, by all means, but be sure that a fire extinguisher and an unobstructed exit are handy, Mr. Finnegan adds.

Look out for:

A Christmas tree kept in the house longer than a week dries out and will catch fire easily.

Cotton and cellophane are both highly inflammable. When using as tree decorations, take care.

Insulation which has worn off the Christmas tree lighting sets should be replaced since a short circuit may start a fire.

Children receiving electric toys should be trained to pull out the plug before leaving the room.

Dishes are acceptable gifts for the child who is learning to feed itself, but it is wise to select those made of unbreakable material.

In the excitement of holiday time, take special care in the kitchen. Keep knives out of reach of children; make sure that hot liquids on the stove are set well back from the front edge; and in reaching for things on top shelves use a stepladder, not a chair or pile of boxes.

If snow and ice are on the ground sprinkle steps and walk with salt or ashes to make walking safer.

All public holiday gatherings should be held in buildings which have been patrolled for fire hazard. Exits should be kept clear and dangerous over-crowding should not be permitted.

Keep floors free of small objects which may be swallowed by infants.

Welcome Santa and insure against fire at the same time by having chimneys and flues cleaned now.

George Carey left yesterday for San Francisco where he will visit his sister and enjoy a holiday. Andrew Carey, mill man at the Plumbago mine arrived in Nevada City yesterday to remain over the Christmas holiday, which he will spend with his sister, Mrs. Roberts and other family members.

The senior assembly program has been practiced and perfected. Dick Clarke is master of ceremonies. The play "Toby's Christmas Gift" is a one act comedy and the actors give fine portrayals of the characters. The Hill Billy Band with Margie Keckler as soloist will add much to the program. The seniors have arranged for Santa Claus to visit some of the faculty and students. The program will close with the senior chorus singing some of the beautiful old carols.

INDIVIDUALIST, RUGGED, DESPAIR OF TWO DENTISTS

What would you do if your false teeth plate, the upper one, cracked and broke just a few days before Christmas?

You would probably do what a well known resident of Nevada City did. He went to his favorite dentist, spit out the broken plate and says: "How about this doctor?" The dentist examined the pieces, looked wise and said: "The best thing I can recommend is to send them below and have them mended. It will cost you several dollars."

"Okay," said the citizen with the broken plate, I'll think it over. See you later."

Next the toothless one consulted his second best friend among the dentists. This dentist looked even wiser. He said:

"You're a property owner. You're credit is good. Let me have that busted plate and I'll make you a new one. It will cost $58."

"Thanks doctor," said the citizen with no teeth, "I'll let you hear from me."

Then he went down to the Alpha Store and consulted a sympathetic member of the staff. "Why, that's very simple," she said. "Here's a bottle of liquid cement. Go home and fix those teeth yourself. The reputation of the store is behind that bottle." Home goes the afflicted one, dives into the basement, opens his tool box, and goes to work. Today he is cracking black walunts, hickory nuts, and filberts with his renovated set of false teeth, for the nut cake his wife is making. If anyone hands him a coin he tests it in the time honored manner. He is looking forward to a great big Christmas dinner. Yesterday he called on the two friendly dentists and with a Merry Christmas bit off two bolt heads just to demonstrate how independent he is. Talk about your rugged individualism.
